Aloha Everyone,

I am a believer in the power of the photographs.

Humans receive more information from our eyes than anything else. There is an old Japanese saying "百聞は一見にしかず。" It means "Seeing is Believing."

Photographing the subject as beautiful as it is, is the least responsibility as a photographer. I try to capture beyond that. "The emotions behind" is what I am focusing. So that the viewer can feel and remember their stories.

It is essential for me to understand you and your family before the portrait session. Please do not hesitate to contact me and tell me about your intention. I would love to hear from you.

Mahalo,

Mieko

Other than being a photographer, Mieko is a mother of two daughters, a dog lover, and a full marathon finisher. She enjoys a cooking, healthy lifestyle, and learning how to play the violin. She was born and raised in Japan and is a Maui resident since 1995. She has traveled to Europe, Canada, Indonesia, Papua New Guinea, Thailand, and Micronesia.

Her dream is to camp out at Sogne Fjord in Norway to photograph aurora borealis and the wonder of the northern part of this planet. nature.

Until death apart me from my cameras, I want to keep creating my visual arts to send the messages without words to the viewers.
